CONFERENCE + EXPO

TEAMS '17 Conference & Expo Showcases Orlando

A thrilling opening celebration, the hottest topics in sports, exclusive venue tours and off-site sessions awaited attendees at the world's largest gathering of sports-event organizers

The TEAMS '17 Conference & Expo—the world's leading conference and expo for the sports-event industry—kept attendees on the cutting edge of industry trends. Presented by Northstar Travel Group and hosted by Visit Orlando, TEAMS '17 was held in Orlando October 30–November 2.

"We had a variety of unique programming on the agenda—including the addition of the eSportsTravel Summit—this year at TEAMS '17," said Timothy Schneider, founder and chairman of the Sports Division of Northstar Travel Group. "We enjoyed welcoming TEAMS attendees to Orlando and providing them the latest in sports-specific content as well as access to industry experts."

New at TEAMS '17 was the eSportsTravel Summit, a series of educational sessions that examined the growing impact of e-sports on destinations and venues. Topics included the similarities and differences of organizing and hosting e-sports competitions; insights into how artificial intelligence, augmented reality, virtual reality and e-sports will transform the sports-event industry; and an examination of the launch of the NBA 2K League as a platform for the engagement of the next generation of sports fans. Another first at the TEAMS Conference was the Rewards and Recognition Roundtable, which provided sports-event organizers and host cities the opportunity to learn how they can use non-cash incentive programs using brand-name merchandise, gift cards and travel to achieve their organizational objectives.

Additionally, concurrent sessions examined topics that included sponsorship integration and activation; waterfront developments; big-event best practices for any sized event; live-event production for video distribution; and creating a technological infrastructure to enhance your events. Attendees had the opportunity to attend off-site tours at ESPN Wide World of Sports and the Orange County Convention Center as well as off-site sessions at the Golf Channel headquarters, the WWE Performance Center, the USTA National Campus and Amway Center, home to the NBA's Orlando Magic.

In addition to educational programming, TEAMS '17 offered numerous opportunities for networking including the Event Organizer Marketplace, a reverse trade show that augmented the TEAMS Expo, and a Late-Night Lounge, which offered an informal setting for pursuing sports-related business objectives. A closing party at Icebar Orlando included 70 tons of carved ice.

TEAMS '17 also featured the presentation of the 2017 SportsTravel Awards at a gala held at Hard Rock Live Orlando and emceed by Mike Hill of Fox Sports. The National Congress of State Games also presented its Athlete of the Year awards. Musical entertainment was provided by Tito Puente Jr. and his Latin Jazz Ensemble.

TEAMS '18 will be held in Louisville, October 1–4. For more information on TEAMS '18, please visit TEAMSconference.com or call (877) 577-3700.
